Coins Replacing Paper Tokens

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Government is gradually withdrawing the 25 and 50 pruta notes as new coins are being minted but it will be some considerable time before the paper currency entirely disappears. Mr. S. Weiss, of the Bank of Israel, told The Jerusalem Post yesterday.

Street from nickel-plated steel blanks obtained in Germany through the Shikunim Corporation, the new coins are being produced by the Mint attached to the Government Printing Office in Tel Aviv. Unlike the earlier coins, minted by ICI in Birmingham, the local product lacks a milled edge. Mr. Weiss explained that were the edge milled it would hold moisture and the steel would rust. The old coins were made of a non-rusting alloy.

It is believed that the new 25 and 50 pruta pieces are being produced in large quantities and are being hoarded by the public. No more 25 pruta pieces are to be minted, and any difficulties in obtaining change arising from this could easily be settled with the 25 pruta piece. Mr. Weiss added that the new coins will gradually replace the older copper pieces.

City Employee Needs Authority to Sue

Jerusalem Post Reporter

HAIFA, Wednesday.—Before a municipal council of law on behalf of the Municipality, the Municipal Council must empower him by a specific decision, according to a recent majority judgment of the District Court.

The Court heard an appeal by Mr. A.B. Lehar, a Haifa advocate, against a Magistrate's order, signed by the Mayor and the Municipal Council, to discontinue the Municipal Council's legal action.

The advocate argued that the Municipality's legal action was not to sue, but to enforce its right to appear in court, and that the Municipality's legal action was not to sue, but to enforce its right to appear in court.

Influence of Army Increasing in Management of USSR Policies

NEW YORK, Wednesday (Reuter).—The influence of the Soviet Army in the day to day management of the policy of the Soviet Union has increased greatly in the post-Stalin era.

Mr. Harrison Salisbury wrote in "The New York Times" today. This applied particularly to the influence of the dominant group in the Army around Marshal Georgi Zhukov, which is conservative and moderate, said Mr. Salisbury who has just returned to the U.S. after five years in the Soviet Union.

Most of the few tangible pieces of evidence that supported the thesis that Stalin's death was not entirely accidental were taken in one way or another with the Army. Some of this evidence concerned General Sergei Shteimenko who was Soviet Chief of the General Staff until about 13 days before the announcement of Stalin's fatal illness and has not been heard of since.

Mr. Salisbury recalled that Shteimenko was one of five military figures named as intended victims of the infamous "doctors" and in January 1953. The other four supposed "victims" kept their jobs after Stalin died, but Shteimenko vanished.

Eshed Prepares For Holiday Rush

Jerusalem Post Bureau

TEL AVIV, Wednesday.—Eshed garages throughout the country are now working on a 24-hour shift system to prepare as many buses as possible for the expected traffic rush during the coming holidays.

On the eve of the holidays, special queues to distant places will be formed at the bus terminal here to ease the pressure on the more regular lines.

Since the last holiday 15 new buses, including the new 50-seat Tigra, have been put into operation. Eshed stated today.

A spokesman regretted the fact that 15 Chaussons will remain idle during this period, as they have for the past few months, due to the lack of spare parts. The parts for this type of buses are obtained through Kaiser-Frazer in Haifa, which, Eshed said, had not been fulfilling orders promptly.

Each passenger will receive a map of the country roads, indicating Eshed routes and the settlements it serves.

In order to avoid unnecessary delay, the traveling public is requested by the Controller of Road Transport to cooperate with the various bus services by arranging to make their trips well in advance of the holidays.
